Investment Risks

There are risks associated with investing in funds that invest in securities of foreign countries, such as erratic market conditions, economic and political instability and fluctuations in currency exchange rates. Value-based investments are subject to the risk that the broad market may not recognize their intrinsic value.

Effective February 22, 2011, this fund is closed to new investors.

The International Fund Class A (NAV) ("the Fund") ended the quarter on June 30, 2018 with a return of -2.25% versus the MSCI All Country World Index (ex-U.S.) (Net) ("Index") return of -2.61%, bringing YTD performance to -2.64% versus the Index return of -3.77%.

Markets continued to behave erratically during the second quarter of 2018 as investors reacted to a multitude of concerns, including rising interest rates in the United States, turmoil in emerging markets, political uncertainties in Europe and a simmering trade war between the United States and China. This volatility provided opportunities for us to initiate a few new positions. In addition, as our equities were down -3.4% for the quarter, we were able to take advantage of temporary price weakness in some names we believe to be good long term investments.

Although our equities underperformed the Index, the Fund as a whole was still able to outperform thanks in part to our cash position which helped to minimize drawdowns during volatile periods. Our currency hedges also helped protect the portfolio as the U.S. dollar appreciated against most currencies over the quarter.

By country, South Korea detracted the most from performance, taking away -1.0%, followed by Japan and Ireland, which detracted -0.8% and -0.1% respectively. In South Korea, we were hurt most by our Consumer Discretionary names and Samsung Electronics. France contributed the most, adding 0.2%. China and the Netherlands each contributed 0.1%. By sector, Consumer Discretionary detracted the most, taking away -0.8%, followed by Financials and Industrials, which detracted -0.5% and -0.4% respectively. Materials and Energy each contributed 0.1%.

Fixed income contributed 0.1% to performance. Our exposure decreased slightly from 2.6% to 2.3%.

Our currency hedges contributed 0.4% and were relatively unchanged this quarter, remaining at: 40% Australian dollar; 10% euro; 35% Japanese yen; 29% Korean won.

Gold was down -5.6%, detracting -0.4% from performance. Our gold bullion position was 6.8% as of June 30, 2018. Gold continues to be an important part of our portfolio, acting as a potential hedge against extreme market events.

We were net buyers this quarter, as we were able to add to some existing positions and find new names in Europe, Japan and South Korea. We also trimmed a few positions that went up in price and approached our intrinsic value estimates. Our equity exposure increased from 67.5% to 68.0% while cash decreased from 22.9% to 22.6% over the quarter.

Increased global market volatility should continue to provide us with select stock picking opportunities as we attempt to preserve your capital and deliver respectable positive absolute returns.

We appreciate your continued confidence and thank you for your support.
